MEMORANDUM: To Station Managers, Campus Stations.

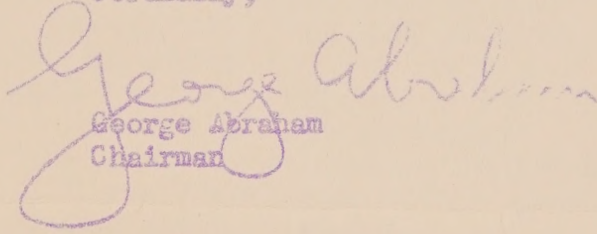

DATE: May 25, 1949

SUBJECT: Extension of FCC's June 1 Deadline for Briefs
from Campus Stations. FCC Official Order No. 34972.

The FCC has just extended for 60 days the June 1 deadline when statements, briefs, and comments can be filed by interested parties regarding Docket No. 9288 which covers revision of the rules governing low power radio devices. This extension was granted in response to requests by IBS and the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

IBS's request was made because the June 1 date conflicted with the end of the academic year and final examinations at a number of colleges. For those who have not filed yet, this allows additional time to make a good showing for your station and campus radio. For those stations which have already filed briefs this gives an opportunity to submit or have submitted additional material, statements, and letters by educators, members of the radio industry, friends of your university, etc. It is important that all such material (original and 14 copies) be received by the Commission no later than August 1.

Cordially,

George Abraham
Chairman

Since the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System was established ten years ago this February, we have had articles in many national magazines, the Saturday Evening Post, Colliers, Newsweek, etc. News items on IBS have appeared regularly in trade publications and in daily newspapers. Almost all the material for these articles and releases has been gathered from your station. I am sure, in the future, we will be able to give wide circulation to many of the items you release concerning your campus station. Speeches by celebrities and special sports events, if carried by your station, are of special interest to publications on our lists. For this reason, I would appreciate it if you would place the address below, which is the central office, in your news and publicity, on your mailing list and send us all your items concerning college radio.

The more data and pictures available the better for we can do on exhibits. Please fill out and return the attached questionnaire in order to give us the background material we will need in writing our release on your station. Several of the magazine features we have had in the past were done on individual stations in the system. If you think you have a good angle on your station, please send it along.

I have also attached a paper giving some pertinent facts about the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System. Since IBS is a nationally known organization, local releases from your station will have a better chance of being carried if you mention your station's affiliation with the system.

Very truly yours,

RJF/as
